IT'S THE KINGSTON EXPOSITION, INDUSTRIAL, CIVIC, COMMERCIAL

Herzog, Bogart, Herbert, Powley and Black Charged With Conducting It, With Roy Sutliff Attending to Publicity—Time Set is October 19-28—Proves a Popular Innovation Among Business Men—May Look a Little Like a Circus From Outside of Its Seven Big Tents.

Kingston Exposition, Industrial, Civic, Commercial, is the official name as decided by the general committee.

The first meeting of the committee which is to have charge of the exposition was held at the chamber of commerce rooms Friday afternoon.

The committee consists of M. H. Herzog, Elva H. Bogart, Joseph M. Herbert, F. R. Powley and Peter A. Black. Roy Sutliff, chairman publicity committee.

The first consideration was given to a suitable name for the greatest project undertaken here for many years, and after a full discussion, it was decided that it was to be called "Kingston Exposition" with a descriptive sub-title "Industrial, Civic, Commercial." As briefly as possible this name and sub-title will well describe the undertaking for articles made here, merchandise sold here and the activities of our many civic, educational and charitable bodies will all be shown.

The time for holding the Kingston Exposition was next taken up and after considering the great amount of work involved and because of the size of the project being increased, it was decided to postpone the opening one week to October 19th, running (except Sunday) through the entire week following.

On the evening, then, of Thursday,

K. H. S. SOCIETIES ARE REORGANIZED

Letter Club, Audubon Society and Athletic Association Get Going—Alumni At Assembly Tell Of College Life.

The past week found three of the societies at the high school in the act of reorganization. The first to start action was the Letter Club, a society limited to fellows who have earned a Varsity letter. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Ross Vogt, president; Earl McLane, vice-president; Arthur Flemming, secretary; and Kenneth Le Fever, treasurer. Stanley Colvin was elected as the fifth member of the executive committee. The club is planning on running a play, minstrel or entertainment in the near future. A committee was named by President Vogt to look after the matter.

The second club to organize was the Audubon Society, whose officers for this year are: Frances Lennox, president; Gladys Raichle, vice-president; Westbrook Stelle, treasurer; and Henry Van Derzee, secretary.

The Athletic Association is now in the process of reorganization. Miss Seigle and Mr. Bukey are kept busy every night selling memberships to the association. They are in the front corridor each night after school. Anyone who attended K. H. S. U. A. or K. A., who wishes to join may do so now. To date there are about three hundred members. The election of officers of the A. A. will take place in a few days.

The regular assemblies have been resumed. Tuesday and Thursday mornings, Mr. Spaulding had charge of the exercises, while Miss Carter led the singing Monday and Wednesday. Miss Reynolds and Miss Burgett being the accompanists. Friday morning was Alumni morning. Seats were reserved in the front of the middle section for the graduates, of whom about fifty turned out. Several songs were sung. Mr. Lewis leading. Without previously warning them, for fear they would not be present, Mr. Lewis told the alumni that he could not let the opportunity pass, for he was sure that all the students would like to hear something of the several colleges represented. He first called upon Carol Kearney to tell something about Syracuse. The next speaker was Harry Madden who spoke about Amherst, where he is now a Sophomore. Having heard about the colleges of arts, the chairman decided that they must hear about one of the practical schools, so he next introduced Miss Anna Casler who is a graduate of Pratt Institute and who is now an instructor at that school. After hearing about the colleges, the whole assembly joined in the singing of the school song.

Football has been progressing under the supervision of Mr. Martin. Capt. Bob Case of the 1921 team and Blair Muller, last year's quarterback, have been helping the coach. With the heavy team that we have and good coaching, our team should be a winner.

An Auto Collision.

Helen M. Stumpf of New Paltz, R. F. D. No. 3, reported to the police department this morning that while driving her Chevrolet truck up Broadway her car was struck at Broadway and Foxhall avenue by a car bearing a New Jersey license number. No one was hurt.

F. J. BAKER'S NARROW ESCAPE

Carl Kundsens Auto Struck His Buggy Hurling Baker Out On His Head On Wurts Street—Kundsens Got Excited Causing the Accident.

Fred J. Baker of No. 50 First avenue, superintendent of the Knickerbocker Ice Company for this district, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning when an automobile driven by Carl Kundsens of Port Ewen struck the rear wheel of his buggy hurling Baker out on his head. The collision occurred on Wurts street near the entrance to the Rondout creek bridge. Officer Reardon placed Kundsens under arrest.

At the time Baker had driven his horse and buggy out of West Union street into Wurts street and was driving toward Abel street on the right side. Kundsens was driving across the bridge and there was another car ahead of him. In trying to pass between the other auto and Baker's wagon Kundsens's auto struck the rear wheel of Baker's buggy.

Mr. Baker was later taken to Dr. Sibley's office to have his injuries attended to. He had a lacerated hand and was badly shaken up. Kundsens agreed to settle all doctor's bills.

In police court Kundsens entered a plea of guilty and Judge Robert G. Groves imposed a fine of $5 which was paid. Kundsens informed the court that he became excited which caused the collision.

ROSE ADVISING LOCAL TIME FOR PRIMARIES

Daylight saving time will rule when primary elections are conducted in all cities, towns and villages which have adopted the summer schedule. Arthur E. Rose, deputy attorney general who is in charge of the attorney general's office during the absence of Charles D. Newton, said Friday. Standard time, he added, would hold good in communities which had no daylight saving time in cities which had been on a summer schedule.

Mr. Rose said his opinion was informal and that the attorney general had given no opinion on the matter, but that he was advising election officials in all parts of the state who had asked for information on the subject, that polls would be opened and closed according to daylight saving time in cities which had been on a summer schedule.

Servia Masses Troops.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Belgrade, Sept. 16.—Servia (Jugo Slavia) is massing troops along the frontiers to protect them in the event hostilities break out in the Balkans. It was learned today. The report that the government was mobilizing was officially denied. The Greek ministers to Romania and Jugo Slavia have been ordered to Athens for a conference.

Weiner Hose Outing.

Tomorrow Weiner Hose Company members will go by auto to the Golden Rule Inn at Mirror Lake, town of Esopus, where they will hold an outing and be served with a chicken dinner. The autos will leave Central Fire Station at 10 o'clock.

BIT SQUIRE KITTLE SLOW EXTENSION ON THE ARM OF WILLARD PLAN

Perry Jones, "Bad Man" From Hardenbergh, Is Handcuffed and Given Night Ride to Jail By Two Constables and a Driver.

Perry Jones arrived at the Ulster county jail about 6 o'clock this morning after a ride since midnight from the town of Hardenbergh, having been committed by Justice of the Peace E. W. Sprague of Turnwood to await the action of the grand jury. The commitment reads that Jones pleaded guilty of assault in the second degree on Hilby Kittle, also a justice of the peace, on September 15, while the justice was engaged in the discharge of his duty.

Jones was brought to jail by John E. Clayton of Lew Beach, a husky constable about 35 years of age who was accompanied by another able-bodied man and a chauffeur who ran the automobile and they had the prisoner handcuffed for fear the man might attempt to get away from them. On their way down the constable and companions made a trip to Napanoch and stopped at the institution for mental defectives and had their prisoner looked over to see if he was an escaped inmate, which he was not.

According to the story told the town of Hardenbergh men, Jones had stopped at some house to get something to eat and raised a row and when Squire Kittle, who had been sent for to arrest the man, arrived, he was attacked by Jones who bit him on the arm.

OLD TWENTIETH HOLDING REUNION

The annual reunion of the Old Twentieth Regiment is being held today at the Mitchell House. This was one of the fighting regiments of the Civil War. It made two departures from Kingston, the first on April 28, 1861, and the second on October 25, 1861. Both departures were witnessed by assembled thousands of people and the partings with relatives were affecting. George W. Pratt, who was colonel of the regiment at both departures, received his death wound at the Second Battle of Manassas and was taken from the field and removed to Washington, D. C., and from thence to Albany, where he died September 11, 1862. On February 22, 1860, a regimental flag was presented to the Twentieth Regiment at the corner of Main and Wall streets near the rebuilt St. Joseph's Church, Major George E. Von Bark presiding. This flag tells of the battles in which the regiment took part as follows: Washington, April, 1861; Beverly Ford, August 21, 1862; Warrington Springs, August 27, 1862; Gainesville, August 28, 1862; Groveton, August 29, 1862; Second Bull Run, August 30, 1862; Chantilly, September 1, 1862; South Mountain, September 14, 1862; Antietam, September 17, 1862; Fredericksburg, December 12 to 15, 1862; Gettysburg, July 1 to 4, 1863; Petersburg, April 1 to 3, 1865; Richmond, April, 1865.

STRIKERS HERE AWAIT ORDERS

Conference Between N. Y. C. President and Union Leaders Today—Striking U. & D. Shopmen Expect Higher Union Officials To Come Here.

Whether or not the West Shore shopmen will return to work in the near future will be decided today when the outcome of the conference between A. H. Smith of the New York Central and the leaders of the shopmen is made public.

In regard to the Ulster and Delaware men, M. Cashman, the leader of the strikers here, stated that he was waiting until the officers of the Associated Federation arrive in town to fore entering into any conference with the Ulster and Delaware officials. Mr. Cashman said that he was pursuing this policy so that both the strikers and the officials might have first-hand information concerning the Willard-Jewell settlement. He expects that these men will be here the first of the week and has every expectation that the matter will be settled in so far as the Ulster and Delaware is concerned before the middle of the week.

FORD SHUTDOWN AFFECTS 100,000

Hundreds of Thousands in Other Parts of Country to be Hit if Monday's Closing Lasts Very Long—No Statement From Ford.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 16.—One hundred thousand men in Detroit and vicinity will be out of work today and many factories throughout the country making Ford parts, will be forced to shut down following the closing of Henry Ford's plants here, announced for Monday.

Already the men in Ford's Detroit plants have been notified that they were laid off indefinitely. The first army of men to be laid off was the River Rouge force, which ordinarily numbers 18,000 men. They were ordered at 11 o'clock last night to turn in their tools and informed their services were not required.

The Highland Park force, normally 45,000 men, got word late yesterday that they would be suspended indefinitely.

No word has yet been given out by either Henry or Edsel Ford. The last statement from the elder Ford was his threat a few weeks ago to close if the coal and steel interests continued their policy of "gouging." Other officials at the Ford plant said today that they believed Mr. Ford would make good his threat to shut down.

Seventy thousand Ford workers in the vicinity of Detroit are affected and 30,000 others in auxiliary plants. There will be out of jobs. It is impossible to estimate exactly how many other men in other cities will be laid off but it is believed the Ford shutdown will affect hundreds of thousands throughout the country.

The municipally-owned lines are arranged to curtail service to the Ford plants today, following a conference between the Fords and street railway officials.

Employees were warned by their foremen to conserve their financial resources. This hint of a long lay-off is the only word given that would indicate the duration of the suspension. Guesses were made by some officials that it would last at least three weeks, possibly two months.

The coal situation at the various plants improved during the past two weeks, according to officials, but Ford workers are going to suffer because of inability to buy coal and coke of the company as they have done in the past.

Shop foremen say the average Ford worker cannot afford to be idle more than two weeks.

The shutdown is one of the most complete ever effected in the Ford organization. It was stated today. Even the trade school is closed.

NEAR EAST CONFLICT TAKES ON ASPECT OF "HOLY WAR"

Wholesale Slaughter of Christians by Mohammedans—Smyrna Fire One of Greatest in History—Balkan War Not Likely Unless Turks Cross Straits Which Are Barred by British Fleet.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 16.—A tense situation of threatened war prevailed in the European chancelleries today while the powers waited for the Turkish national government at Ankara to answer the Allied ultimatum warning the Turks not to attempt to invade Europe.

The Turkish peace and armistice terms as telegraphed from Ankara are of such a nature as to arouse the utmost pessimism. The Turks are demanding the following:

- 1.—That all the occupied area of Anatolia and Thrace be turned back to Turkey.
- 2.—That the Greek troops remaining in Turkey be surrendered unconditionally to the Turks along with their arms and munitions.
- 3.—That the "enemy" recognize Turkish sovereignty in Thrace and Asia Minor.
- 4.—That the "enemy" relinquish all aspirations in the Near East at the expense of Turkey.
- 5.—That Greece pay indemnity and make reparations.
- 6.—That all persons guilty of atrocities be handed over to the Turkish Nationalists for punishment.

Anglo officials were quoted as saying that no other terms were acceptable.

Premier Lloyd-George has gone to his country seat at Chequers (four hours from London) in the meantime. British government will not take any action regarding the Near East.

It was reported in semi-official circles that the United States would be invited to participate in the Turkish peace conference as well as the nations of the "Little Entente."

Constantinople advisers report that disorders have broken out in the Rodost and Dimitiko districts. Serious violence was said to have taken place at Rodost and Adrianople. In Thrace, two of the chief cities in the European territory, claimed by the Turks.

An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Athens says that the Turks disclaim all responsibility for the fire at Smyrna. It added that hundreds of Greek and Armenian Christians have been sentenced to death by the Turkish military authorities.

According to refugees arriving in Athens, many Greek and Armenian Christians were put to death on the pretext that they aided the Greek army. An American states that he saw headless bodies of Greek soldiers tied together.

The Greek Metropolitan—high prelate of the Greek Orthodox Church—was murdered in Smyrna and it is alleged that his body was dragged through the streets by the Turks.

London, Sept. 16.—Smyrna has been bombarded by the Greek warship Kiklos, according to a Central News despatch from Athens today. The bombardment was directed against the Turkish quarters of the city.

All of Smyrna has been destroyed or damaged by fire with the exception of the Turkish quarter. The conflagration spread to neighboring villages.

It is impossible to give a definite estimate of the dead but it is feared that they will run into thousands. The harbor is full of floating corpses. More than 100,000 are threatened with death from starvation. Panic prevails among the refugees.

Disorders are reported from Adrianople, where revolution was said yesterday to have broken out against Greek authority.

Detachments of Allied marines tried to land at Smyrna to reinforce the Allied military forces in the city, but were prevented by Turkish Nationalist troops, according to the Greek government. The Greeks claim that the Turks were massed upon the harbor front and turned back the boats bearing marines.

The conflagration which swept Smyrna is described by the Smyrna correspondent of the London Daily Mail as "the worst fire in history." An unbroken wave of flame two miles long stormed through the city, leaving utter ruin in its wake.

There was a pandemonium of noise with refugee men, women and children, wailing and shrieking in their panic. Crowds rushed to and fro in the streets, so stricken with terror that they did not know what they were doing. They were continuous explosions of ammunition.

The worst scenes were on the quays where the fugitive Christians hovered only to be cut down by Turkish soldiers. The wharves were covered with corpses. The refugees knelt with upraised hands, screaming for mercy and imploring ships to come to their aid. The British consulate was destroyed.

Rome, Sept. 16.—American losses in the fire at Smyrna were estimated today at $15,000,000. The total loss was put at $75,000,000. Three hundred thousand of persons are homeless. A Smyrna dispatch said that "most of the Americans were safe."

Italian newspapers intimated that the Greeks might have been responsible for the Smyrna fire.

Italy is going ahead with preparations for the Near East conference at Venice, despite belief in London and Paris that the scheme is useless.

James Cannon, representative of the federal council of churches in the United States, announced that he is going to Smyrna to assist the Christian refugees and is appealing to American churches for aid. He said that the United States "must cooperate with the other powers for the protection of Christians in the Near East."

Fears of another war in the Balkans are lessening here. Bulgaria has proclaimed her neutrality and has made it plain that she has no intention of going to war against any of her former foes.

GIANTS' PLAYERS WITH COLONIALS

In Sunday's Contest Three Players From The Banks of The World's Champions To Be Seen In Action With The Local Club.

This afternoon at the Kingston Fair Grounds the Astor Club of Rhinebeck and Freddie Wetmore's Parker Aale Regulars are scheduled to play.

A much bigger treat is in store for local fandom when they go to the Fair Grounds Sunday to see the contest between the Colonials and the Tamersville club.

Did you ever hear of Captain McFee, John McGuire and Watt Johnsons? Well if you didn't John McGuire and his scouts have and they immediately got in touch with them and signed them up with the New York National League team. Of course we all know Captain Harry Schrick of the Colonials. Well, through him, these players mentioned above, will don Colonial uniforms on Sunday and play the strengthened team coming from the wilds of Tamersville.

The Colonial management have stated that in the near future they would surprise local fandom by having some big league players, come to this city and play with the local team. So Captain Schrick got in touch with a former college coach at Cornell University and everything worked well. When Captain Schrick was the big man in baseball at Cornell Hugh Jennings was one of his pals. Now Jennings is assistant manager to John J. McGraw and through him the players were secured.

The management also stated they would have a big league team come here. This also will be a really as Schrick's friend, Hugh Jennings, will have a team come here in the near future. The local management is endeavoring to give the supporters of the team their money's worth as is shown by bringing players of such calibre here.

The three players coming here have been recently signed up by the Giants. McGuire, who plays the outfield and is the leading hitter of the Texas State League, joined the ranks of the Giants about a month ago. Johnston is the pitcher, who made a marvelous record in Texas State League during this season. McFee plays the infield and was annexed to the Giants last June.

To say a large crowd will come to the Fair grounds tomorrow is unnecessary, but, nevertheless, there's lots of room. Although the management spent some real "jack" to get these players here, no advance in the price of admission has been made.

DAUGHTERY IMPEACHMENT TRIAL OVER TO TUESDAY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The attempt to impeach Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty failed to make any material progress today, when the case was called for hearing by the house judiciary committee.

After some wrangling among the committee members, the hearing was postponed until next Tuesday morning to allow Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, who began the impeachment proceedings, time to get his evidence together.

BRITAIN CALLS COLONIAL TROOPS TO BALKANS

London, Sept. 16.—Great Britain has called upon her dominions for aid in reinforcing the British forces in the Balkans, according to an official statement late today.

Immediate reinforcements will be sent to protect control of the Dardanelles, the statement said.

STATES HELPING TO ELIMINATE MENACE OF RAILWAY CROSSINGS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

What can be done when a community sets out to rid itself of the menace of railroad grade crossings is shown by the plans for a federal aid road to be constructed in Alabama between Arden and Clayton. In a distance of about 25 miles the old road crossed the railroad 14 times. By good engineering 13 of these crossings have been eliminated, the remaining one being in the small town of Chlo, where there are only three trains a day, and these move at slow speed as they approach the station.

Some months ago the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture announced that grade crossings would be eliminated on all Federal-aid highways wherever practicable. Officials of the bureau are receiving hearty co-operation from state highway departments and the general approval of the public. It has been found possible to revise many plans, keeping the road entirely on one side of the track or finding a suitable place where the road can cross beneath or above the track.

In some states the highway departments on account of existing legislation are having difficulty in inducing the railroad companies to share the cost of placing the highway above or under the track.

GET IN AND OUT OF AUTOMOBILE

Many People Do Not Seem to Realize What a Moment's Forethought Will Do.

PROPOSITION QUITE SIMPLE

Doors Were Made to Enter and Leave Through and Not Bear Weight of Person—Hinges Are Made Comparatively Frail.

Getting in or out of an automobile is an awkward job for most people. They do not seem to realize that with but a moment's forethought that it can be made a very simple proposition, says Washington Post. To begin with the average person when about to get into a machine proceeds to put the right hand, if entering from the curb side, well out on the door and to bear upon this hand and arm. Doors were made to enter and leave through, not to carry the weight of a person. They are supported to the side of the body by comparatively frail hinges secured to an upright post that forms one of the body supports. Once a door is spring it is well-nigh impossible to repair it so that it will again assume its normal position as part of the body, fit snug and not rattle. The reason is because not only is the door itself sprung out of shape, but the body post likewise has been sprung and it is impossible to remedy this without rebuilding body posts and sills.

Getting Into an Auto.

As illustrated in the first drawing the matter of getting into a motor car is simple enough if one will but put the right foot on the running board, grasping the body of the car, one hand on each side of the door, and as the weight is put upon the right foot exert a slight forward pulling motion with the hands and arms, at the same time lifting the left leg clear of the running board and placing it on the floor of the car as illustrated in the second drawing. With the body in this position as the right foot is drawn into the car the body can easily and naturally be turned using the left foot as a pivot and a sitting position on the seat of the car taken without awkwardness or inconvenience and likewise without bumping one's head against the top of the machine.

Getting Out.

In getting out of a machine if one will but grasp the side of the body with the right hand, at the same time placing the right foot on the running board, as shown in the third illustration, their body is in such a position that it is but a simple matter when the weight is put on the right foot, the head extended beyond the line of the top, to reach over and grasp the other side of the door opening with the left hand, at the same time putting the weight of the body on the right foot and two hands and arms, bringing the left foot out of the car and to the curb, as shown in the fourth drawing.

Disengaged Clutch.

The clutch is disengaged before each shifting of transmission gears to allow easy movement of gears and shifting lever and prevent grating and possible breaking of gear teeth while the shift is attempted. It is possible to change gears without first disengaging the clutch, but considerable practice and familiarity with them is necessary, and danger of stripping the teeth and strain on the entire driving system is greatly increased.

Why Hoover Sent Corn to Russia.

Someone asked Mr. Hoover recently why he sent corn to Russia instead of wheat. "Because," replied the secretary of commerce without a moment's hesitation, "for one dollar I can buy so many calories—carrying it out to the third decimal place—in corn, and only so many—in wheat. I get about twice as many in corn as in wheat."—From "Behind the Mirrors."

Want Library for Every Ship.

During the recent war the American Library association placed for the use of the men of the merchant marine ships a total of 250,000 books. These books were made up into libraries and shifted from one vessel to another. Recently the American Merchant Marine Library association has been organized for the purpose of carrying on this work under the slogan "A Library for Every Ship."—The Classmate.

Americans Consume Much Milk.

The average American today is a great milk drinker and consumes twice as much as former generations, according to the Department of Agriculture. The consumption of milk last year was estimated at 44 gallons for each person, not including that used in ice cream, cheese and butter.—Exchange.

SPRAY POTATO LEAF HOPPER

Bordeaux Mixture Should Be Applied Thoroughly to Under Side of the Leaves.

You can get the potato leaf hopper by using bordeaux mixture. The formula employed consists of four pounds of copper sulphate, four pounds of unslaked lime to fifty gallons of water. The spray should be applied to the under side of the leaves thoroughly, using at least 150 pounds pressure. This pressure gives a fine mist spray. At least three applications are recommended and a fourth might be given to advantage. Both sides of each row should be thoroughly sprayed to make the job complete.

Progenitor of the Galosh.

The great-grandfather of the galosh was the Englishman's Jack boot, black as the leather bottles from which he drank his ale—solid and unpliable as iron, square-toed and clumsy. Even the purest of Puritans strode the streets with this one frivolity of dress flaring at the tops. It wasn't the "wearing of boots" that was the abuse, mourned one commentator upon this style, "but the generality of the wearing and the manner of cutting boots out with huge, slovenly, immoderate tops."

Statue to Red Cross Man.

Capt. J. A. Pedlow, the American Red Cross commissioner to Budapest, is said to be the most popular man in the Hungarian capital. Out of gratitude for his relief work among the starving war victims, the Hungarian government has erected a monument to him in the city park, which was recently unveiled on the seventy-fifth birthday of Count Apponyi, the "grand old man" of Hungary.—The Argonaut.

Sentiment and Appetite.

"I understand that one of your colleagues voted for prohibition, in spite of the fact that he personally consumes convivial fluids."

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "His heart was in the right place, but his stomach wasn't."

Relief to Friend Husband.

"Has the woman in politics improved the conditions of life?"

"Undoubtedly," replied Miss Corcoran. "Women now argue great questions among themselves instead of making husbands try to explain matters they do not understand."

The Beauty of Lichens.

The famous "Hudson GATES" of Greenland which extend for miles describe their spectacular color from red lichen. They rise 2000 feet from the water's edge. The Golden Gate in the Yellowstone owes its name to the yellow lichen of its lofty walls.

Omnivorous Codfish.

That the codfish is omnivorous is shown by the fact that, in addition to the crustaceans, small fish and sea moss which it eats, all sorts of things have been found in its stomach, such as small crabs, carpenter, butter dolls and pieces of clothing.

Nests of Cedar Bark.

A new idea for house pests, to keep insects out of them is to make them of cedar bark. Buzs as every housewife knows, strongly object to cedar. For this purpose the bark is shredded and the ends of the tree may be impaled with it.

THE UNSPEAKABLE SIN.

In efforts to influence voters of this Congressional district, in which they are neither voters, residents nor taxpayers, the Anti-Saloon League "staff" say in regard to Congressman Charles B. Ward: "He is a wealthy man from New Jersey, who happens to own a summer residence in Sullivan county. These two facts seem to constitute his only qualification for, or claim to public office in this district."

These statements are so eminently unfair and intended to arouse unreasoning prejudice that The Freeman cannot refrain from calling them to the attention of the enrolled Republican voters who will decide the primary election contest on Tuesday.

Mr. Ward may be wealthy. If he is, there never has been any intimation that his wealth was acquired dishonestly. Whatever wealth he has certainly seems to have been acquired in an entirely honest and honorable way. The only outside indication that he has any wealth is furnished by the ownership of an automobile, possibly of the same make as that owned by his competitor, Mr. Coons, and he is president of a Sullivan county bank, while the Anderson candidate is still waiting for promotion to such position from the position as vice president which he occupies in one of the prosperous banks of Ellenville.

According to the same authority, a former resident of this district visited Congressman Ward's office in Washington "many times" but did not find him there. That is not strange. A Congressman who sits in his office from morning until evening would have no time to perform the many things Mr. Ward has done for his constituents, which require personal visitation to the many government departments, not to mention attendance at the sessions of Congress. Certainly, it has not been the experience of hundreds of residents of this district to find Mr. Ward away when they called on him, and their tribute to him is their praise of his ready willingness to do whatever human power could do, regardless of politics, because they were residents of the district which had sent him to Congress as its representative.

During eight years Mr. Ward has looked after the affairs of his constituents. He likewise has looked after his own business interests, which include management of about one thousand acres of farm and timber land in Sullivan county, requiring the employment of about twenty people. He also has been active in the conduct of his newspaper, The Liberty Register, in which respect he has been like President Harding, who throughout his long and distinguished Senatorial career and since he has been President has found time to conduct his own newspaper, The Marion (Ohio) Star. Mr. Ward may own a summer residence in Sullivan county, but he certainly does own and occupies a permanent all-the-year-round home where he can be found except when he is attending to public business at Washington.

So, the unspeakable and unpardonable sin of which Congressman Ward is guilty narrows down to the fact that he came from New Jersey. That is a serious charge. He came from New Jersey! Why didn't he stay there? Then there would not have been a campaign of vituperation against him, and it would not have been necessary to draw on the fund of $275,000 which was raised last year by the Anti-Saloon League for the expensive fight that Anderson is waging against Ward.

Meanwhile, of course, this district would not have had the efficient services which Congressman Ward has rendered to the people of this district; for eight years this district might easily have had a succession of one-term nonentities.

BAD MANNERS AT A FAIR.

When he attempted to deliver a set speech at the Minnesota State Fair Vice President Coolidge was "boored" and howled into silence in spite of a courageous effort to go on. One explanation of the remarkable incident is that "the Constitution is in danger, the home is tottering, and the Reds are gaining." This appears to be merely the offer of a non sequitur in lieu of logic, the more so because a protest of radicals against reactionaries would hardly have been so noticeably unsuccessful in making its point clear. A more convincing explanation is that the speech "delayed the running off of some horse races" and the State Fair crowd "preferred the horse races to the speech."

As Mr. Coolidge can hardly be called a thrilling orator and the temperature was 98 degrees, one can understand such a preference; but it is not possible to understand such a gross discourtesy to a man in Mr. Coolidge's position, or to any respectable man who had accepted an invitation to speak. In this instance Minnesota's hot and tired Main Street must have forgotten its manners and followed the lead of that part of its Back Street which has no manners to forget.

The whole nation will hope that President Harding is right in his belief that there will be no need for the government to take over the operation of any railroad or coal mine. We had one experience with government operation, and it was not satisfactory in any respect.

Burroughs Nature Club Notes

September 1922.
By ROBERTSON BROWN, JR.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Dept. of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Do birds die with their eyes open or shut?
2. How much white pine seed should I buy to plant an acre of ground?
3. For the past two seasons my tomatoes have been damaged by nests of destructive ants that chew at the stem at its lowest part and weaken it. What can I do?

Answers in Monday's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. What is the best honey plant? Probably the western irrigation-grown alfalfa, though clover used to rank first. Honey made from alfalfa nectar is thick and rich, in flavor recalling clover honey, but slightly aromatic in taste.

2. What sort of creature is the sea-anemone?

It is a polyp of the genus Actinia, a creature somewhat suggesting coral, but soft-bodied, with no power to secrete a bony skeleton. The "petals" are tentacles that reach out and capture food that floats or swims past, the outer ones passing it along to inner tentacles until it reaches the stomach at the center. When alarmed this animal draws in its tentacles and looks shrunk into a ball.

3. We have a wren box in an apple tree in our yard, and recently I saw a small bird near it. I thought it was a wren, but it sang more soft and pleasingly like a canary, and this morning there were two of them going over the tree, fluttering almost like hummingbirds, inspecting every place a bud or blossom shows. They go upside down, pecking as though they were picking off bugs. About color of wren, but dirty white underneath.

Probably a warbler, the fluttering flight being characteristic. From the date and situation, early May, Iowa, we guess a Nashville warbler, more vocal than most warblers. Male has a whitish line running through the eye.

SAWKILL.

Sawkill, Sept. 16.—St. Ann's Masses at 8 and 10 a. m. There were 100 people present.

St. Ann's, due to the illness of the pastor, the Rev. George J. Vaeth, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hulsair and Miss M. Boise have made an auto trip to Niagara Falls and will also visit the state fair at Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of Mountain Inn, have again received several boarders.

Louis Hulsair and sons have completed the excavation for the new Sawkill school. It is expected to have the school ready for December, which will be a frame building.

Mrs. Thomas Gately will take an extended trip to Brooklyn visiting her relatives.

The Rev. George J. Vaeth who was recently operated upon, is slowly recovering.

Church Dedication Sunday.

The dedication of the Free Methodist Church at Tremper avenue and O'Neil street, will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The dedicatory service will be in charge of the Rev. J. T. Logan, who will be assisted by the Rev. A. W. Myer, district elder, and the Rev. J. E. Norris, pastor of the church. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered following the sermon on Sunday morning. The sermon at both morning and evening services will be by the Rev. Mr. Logan. Services will be held at the church this evening at 8 o'clock, with sermon by the Rev. Mr. Myer.

A Novel Window Display.

A very pretty window decoration of "Yeast for Health" is that which was arranged by the employees of the Fleischmann Company at their office, 241 Main street, which is greatly admired by many. The decorations are formed around a large picture of the Fleischmann Company plant at Peekskill which is the largest yeast plant in the world.

PALENTOWN.

Palentown, Sept. 16.—David L. Palen was in Kerhonkson on Monday.

Stanley E. Krum, wife and daughter, Ella Mae, of Maybrook, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Barringer enjoyed a fine auto ride on Sunday. They called on relatives at Cold Brook, Fleischmanns, Quarryville, Saugerties and West Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Feltman are spending some time with their daughter, Mrs. Fred Deput, in New Palitz.

Our teacher, Mr. Roosa, spent the week end and at his home in Stone Ridge.

Jesse McDonald and wife of Monticue Heights were callers at the Feltman home on Sunday.

Joseph M. Lennon and Everett Brannen were in Kerhonkson Tuesday.

Norman Bell has returned home after spending some time in Minnesota.

Mrs. V. Barringer was in Kingston with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roosa on Thursday.

"The Mystery of My Husband's Body in My Trunk." Madame Besarab, the Paris novelist and condemned murderess, writes from her prison cell, the story of her life, which is quite as remarkable as the heroine of her popular novels.

WEST PARK.

West Park, Sept. 16.—For the last two Sundays in this month, September 17 and 24, services in the Church of the Ascension will be at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The minister in charge is Alexander G. Cummins. Special music will be featured by the Premier Quartet of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, assisted by instrumentalists, Richard De Silva, Northrup, violinist, and Robert S. Flager, organist. Friends in West Park, Esopus and elsewhere will be as welcome as parishioners irrespective of church connections.

Liquid Soap for Cleaning Carpet.

Take two bars of white soap chopped fine and melted in one quart of hot water. When almost cold, add a teaspoonful of ammonia. When ready to wash or scrub the carpet, put a little ether into the mixture. Keep it well corked and add half a cupful of the mixture to a large pailful of tepid water. It makes a powerful lather. Wipe the carpet off with clear water.

Quill Toothpicks.

The most extensive quill toothpick factory in the world is near Paris, where there is an annual product of 30,000,000 quills. The factory was started to make quill pens, but when these went out of general use it was converted into a toothpick mill.—Brooklyn Eagle.

MAN TO BE ENVIED

Follower of Confucius Has Many Advantages.

Both at Home and Abroad, Writer Points Out, He is Favored Over Other Nationalities.

Wherever the Chinaman may be—and he is found in every part of the world—he has certain advantages which, for instance, the American or Englishman does not have. Let us first mention the advantages of being a Chinaman in his homeland, Chung Chao in the New York Evening Post. For one thing, he never has to be bored by political speeches. Chinese politicians hardly make any speeches; the few speeches they make are more refreshing and more revealing, for they tell in a few phrases the full tragedy of the politician. For example, a Chinese politician is likely to begin his remarks, be they oral or written, in some such way as this: "I, unworthy Obenging, who have neither upheld the honor of my illustrious ancestors nor met the expectations of the honorable people of this land, who am without both ability and learning—" How much more educational political meetings in America would be if tradition compelled the speakers to make such frank revelations about themselves!

Another of the inestimable advantages of being a Chinaman in his homeland is the careful way in which the illusion of life's drama is maintained for him. This drama, as is commonly known, has only two actors—man and woman. And the elementary requirement of any drama is that the mechanics of it should be hidden, that the property man should not get on the stage when the curtain is still up. Now in China, the heroine of life's drama never spoils the show, as is done in some other countries, by exhibiting the mechanical processes of makeup right on the stage; she would never think of powdering her nose in a restaurant scene, nor would she interrupt the action to puff out her curls whenever the exigencies of the drama should require that she take off her hat. These are trifles, but then the illusion is thin enough as it is.

Another advantage which the Chinaman shares with the Chinawoman, in a country where marriages are always romantic and must always remain romantic, acting romantically toward the husband or the wife is a part of good manners. In China, romance may or may not co-exist with marriage; if it does, well and good. The Chinaman and the Chinawoman are under no circumstances compelled to recall the expressions of endearment as soon as company enters the home. If the American and the American woman shared this advantage how much suffering could be spared!

Abroad, as at home being a Chinaman has advantages. Let it suffice to mention the general advantage of being a Chinaman in America. We are anxious to tell this advantage because we have enormously profited by it. The language which the Americans use may be hard and perverse, yet a Chinaman, by making the subject agree—sometimes disagree—with the predicate in three successive sentences acquires instantly the reputation of speaking excellent English. Again, every Chinaman in America who can make any kind of speech or write any kind of composition becomes immediately an authority on China. The thirty American intellectuals in view of the many criticisms they have suffered, must envy the ease of the Chinaman in becoming an authority on his own country.

If life is so drab, so materialistic in America, mayn't the solution be in all Americans becoming Chinamen?

Monarch's Target Practice.

Interesting stories of the late King Buno of Swaziland are told in "Adventures in Swaziland." The author is Dr. Owen Rowe O'Neill, who in spite of his Irish name is a South African Boer. King Buno was a savage of the old school. He preferred the gin which he could drink to gold which he could only look at. He drank the gin all at once, as soon as he got it. On one occasion, when he had come into possession of a Mauser rifle and cartridges, he had his whole army paraded in front of him, and began a sort of shooting competition into the motionless ranks. The savage king slipped a clip into his Mauser, the metallic click intensified by the silence. He raised the rifle, sighting down first one line of warriors and then the other. The next instant a shot rang out and a plumed Swazi pitched forward and lay writhing in the sunlight. "Four more shots rang out," says Doctor O'Neill, "and at each a plumed head came down."

Keep Hands Off.

The love of the wood rose is rightfully in all our hearts. That city motorists can take city dwellers to it in a day is a boon that the genius of modern civilization has lately conferred and that is worth much, says the American Forestry Magazine. It is necessary that with privilege should go the power of self-restraint that teaches all not only to love beauty, but that others, as worthy, may equally enjoy it.

Baby Wanted It.

"How far is it to the moon, dad?" "About 240,000 miles, so the astronomers tell us."

"Well, I'm afraid you'll have to take a taxi, baby wants it."

Society's Real Danger.

The danger to society is not merely that it should believe wrong things—though that is great enough—but that it should become credulous, and lose the habit of testing things and inquiring into them. For then it must sink back into savagery.—W. K. Clifford

FOR WAR ON "LONG KNIVES"

Cache Where Indians Had Gathered Mutilations Found in Cave in Wayne County, Kentucky.

Ruins of what once was a flourishing "mutilation factory" are sheltered in a cave 14 miles east of Mill Springs, in Wayne County, Kentucky, in the opinion of Prof. A. M. Miller, head of the department of geology at the University of Kentucky.

This "factory," according to Professor Miller, produced arrow heads to tip the shafts of Indian braves whose no man's land in the days before the squirrel rifle supplanted the bow, was Kentucky.

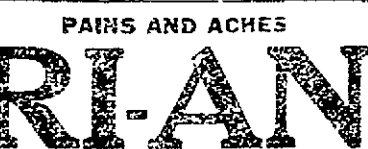

Professor Miller returned recently from a trip to Wayne county where he prospected for caves rockhouses and old Indian village sites, favorable ground for the human of extinct man remains.

"Two rockhouses and one cave were examined," he said. "In one of these, about fourteen miles east of Mill Springs, numerous arrow heads in various stages of completion were scattered at a shallow depth over the floor, furnishing evidence that this shelter formerly was an arrow head workshop of aborigines."

The other rockhouse also gave evidence of having been a popular resort of the aborigines. Human bones found in the cave lead to the belief that it had been used as a burial place.

WOMEN who have never driven cars before, find, to their surprise, that everything about an Overland Sedan is remarkably simple. The driver's seat is comfortable. The gears shift easily. Steering becomes second nature.

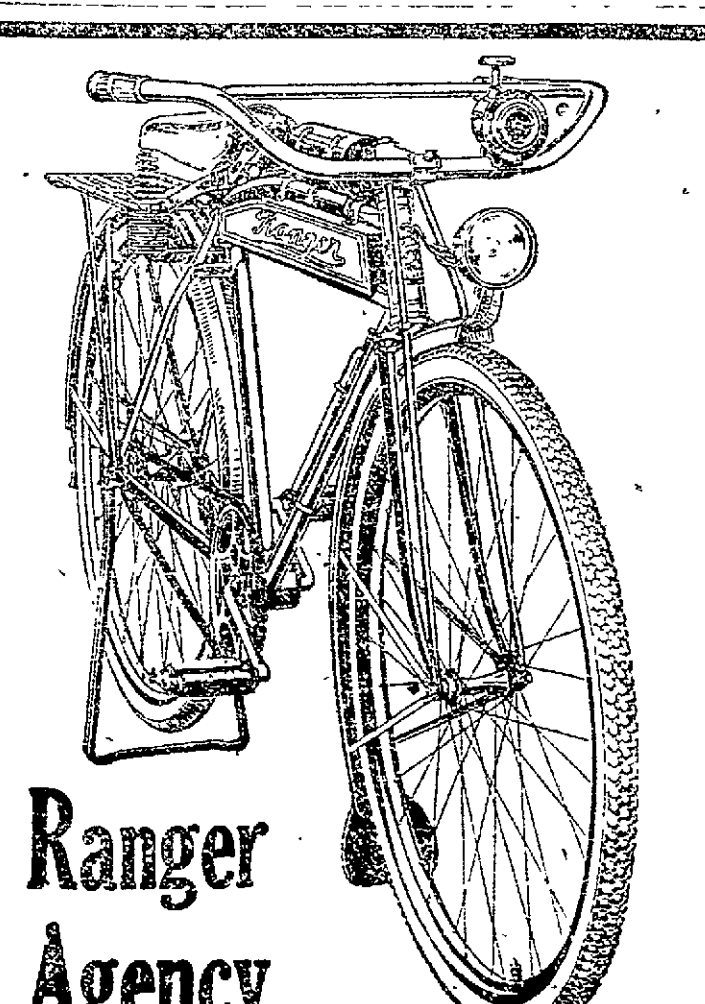

Thousands of women who are driving Overland Sedans wonder how they ever got along without them. The Overland makes the fresh produce of the farm as accessible as the corner grocery. Shopping, too, becomes a pleasure instead of a hardship.

For real quality, comfort, style and all-round performance, the Overland Sedan is without question "the greatest motor car value in America."

THREE GREAT MOMENTS IN A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN'S LIFE

YOU'LL SEE—

1. The Terrible Awakening.

Fainting in the arms of the millionaire, Lady Vivienne awoke to find him lying dead at her feet. Overcome by fear she fled from England and sailed for South Africa.

2. The White Captive.

Trekking across the African veldt she wandered from her wagon and was lost in the desert. After many hours under the broiling sun she sighted a camp. A few minutes of rest and she learned the terrible truth—she was a captive of a desert renegade.

3. The Terrific Flood.

Then came tense, thrilling moments—the escape, "the sting of wild honey," the coward's confession, the plot, the explosion of the dam, the terrible flood, the rescue, and finally—happiness.

ALL ABOUT RAIN

By a Man Who Evidently Has Studied the Subject.

Some Few Facts May Have Been Overlooked, But in General It Will Be Found Pretty Comprehensive.

"Rain," said the man who presides over the fortunes of the all-night lunch room, "is a phenomenon familiar to all of us from our early years. Scientists tell us that rain is the moisture which makes the clouds before it is condensed into rain drops by coming into contact with colder air currents, and that is very interesting."

"There are certain other interesting facts connected with rain. I have spent much time in collecting them. Rain can be confidently expected to fall on the Fourth of July, on the 17th of March, on the dates of weddings, open-air prize fights, and inaugurations of the Presidents, when it sometimes appears frozen and is then called snow. It can be looked for with assurance on other occasions too numerous to mention and it comes frequently in defiance of all known rules."

"There are certain cities in this country which support a game called baseball," he continued. "In these cities rain is famous principally because it produces what are known as double-headers, an arrangement much in favor among certain admirers of the sport."

"In the days before children were deprived of the pleasure of risking their lives with fireworks in celebration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence each Fourth of July, rain was hailed with delight on that anniversary by certain nervous men and women. It exerted a dampening influence on the dangers of the day, tended to reduce the noise of the occasion and made it almost impossible to set powder on fire with skyrockets and powder crackers."

"But today almost the only persons who welcome rain are the husbands and fathers of the land, who seek excuses for accompanying their wives and children to places of so-called amusement and who, by some strange superstition, regard a holiday as a period in which to rest. Rain is especially unwelcome on days like the Fourth of July to the people whose profits depend on the assembling of thousands of patriotic celebrators in the open air."

"Aside from holidays, rain is deemed a valuable stock in trade by farmers, gardeners, the manufacturers of rubbers, raincoats and umbrellas. Housewives usually object to it, because in all the centuries of civilization the male members of families have never learned the real use of the mat at the front door with 'Welcome' written on it."

"Rain is sometimes, but not often, useful as an inspiration to poets, advertisement illustrators and people with bad tempers. The last class often waxes really eloquent when the gentle drops fall from the clouds."

"He told me that he had just been presented with something from over the border that rendered him immune to the ill attendant upon rain, called me a crass materialist and went out, thinking of violets, I guess, because he forgot to pay for his coffee."—Providence Journal.

Do We Laugh in Dreams?
Why do we have no sense of humor while we are dreaming? And why do we take almost everything as a matter of course?

In our waking moments we should be surprised if a fat Chinese guest were to swim like a goldfish through the dining room where Lloyd George is gratefully eating a mud pie brought in by a little girl whose hair is done up in eight pigtails, and a tailor is applying an immense flatiron to the coat which its owner is wearing while he is smoking a saxophone, and a swarthy man is chopping up books and cording them in the center of the room.

Perhaps we do laugh while we dream, and then forget that we laughed.—Life

Religious Freedom Under Bolshevism.
The baptizing of children will not be allowed in Russia in the future. The supreme council of the church, which is under Soviet control, is elaborating a new church law dealing with baptism. In this the age of baptism is fixed at eighteen, and the consent of the person concerned must be obtained in writing and filed with the authorities.

Seeing Is Believing.
Jane, age four, had just come in from four hours in the sand pile and was having a prolonged session in the bathroom with her mother.

"Jane, your hands are simply frights," exclaimed mother, considering the possible use of a scrub brush. "But, mother," retorted Jane, "you ought to see my knees; they're more frightened than my hands."

British Legacy Law Shift.
A change in the English law is proposed by which the freehold property of a man who dies without leaving a will may be divided among all his children. As the law is at present the property goes to his eldest son.

Grant and Taft.
With the exception of General Grant, who occupied the post only for a brief period during a cabinet reorganization, William Howard Taft is the only secretary of war who ever became President of the United States.

Ever Hopeful.
Following is a card received from my little sister up in the country on a vacation: "Dear Marian: I am having a fine time. I arrived safe and hope to arrive the same way going home. Love from Gertrude."—Chicago Tribune.

BIRDS AND CAT SPLIT HOUSE

Hitherto, Broom Friends Proclaim Feud at a Time When Only Kind-Heart Feeling Should Prevail.

There is a feud still only a few weeks old, out in one of the Westchester towns that promises to develop into a vendetta as intense and deadly as anything that Breathitt county ever produced. The ploy of the feud is that no one would ever have predicted it; no one took steps to forestall it.

The Bixbys and the Judds have been neighbors for more than six months and until recently relations had been friendly between the two families. Bixby and Judd came out from the city on the same train three or four nights a week and until last week took part in the best game of pitch in the commuters' league. Mrs. Bixby and Mrs. Judd were neighborly about such things as a little vinegar or enough olive oil for a French dressing.

But that is all over now. Bixby and Judd pass each other with laboriously achieved unconcern. There are no more informal visits from house to house. The Bixbys are talking seriously about selling their house, even at a sacrifice, that they may get into a more congenial atmosphere. The Judds are letting it be known that the neighborhood is in some ways an unpleasant one.

Love of nature really started it all. The Bixbys were unaware of the fact that Mrs. Judd was a bird lover. It is not always easy to identify a professional bird lover. Very often they give every indication of being normal persons. It is only when the annual migration starts that the bird lovers give themselves away.

That was when Mrs. Judd revealed her true character. As soon as the first robins appeared in the neighborhood she began to take the trouble of the birds to heart. It was a large order to worry about all the birds in town, but Mrs. Judd was conscientious. There was Felix, for instance. Felix is the Bixby cat, a great tawny cat, highly decorative but not particularly respectable, and not familiar enough with bird lore to know that he shouldn't catch robins. He had been doing it for a long time; he did it one bright morning on the lawn in front of the Judd house.

Mrs. Judd went to the telephone. She called Mrs. Bixby. There were a few remarks, progressively icy, a complete silence. The feud began.

Felix, however, merely sat in the sun and sneezed up after his meal.

Life on Mars?

Mars, our nearest neighbor, will be at the nearest possible point to us—35,000,000 miles—in 1924, but this year it got within 42,000,000 miles of us on June 18, and the astronomers of the world eagerly trained their telescopes upon it. They did not discover much that they did not know before. They discerned masses of glistening white at the poles, which most of them think are composed of snow and ice, though some of them consider the patches to be a deposit of crystallized carbonic-acid gas. They also saw areas of green, which, say one authority, may be vegetation or may be seas. The same authority adds that the atmosphere appears to be so thin that living beings, if they exist on Mars, must be quite unlike anything that we know on earth.—Youth's Companion.

Gobelin Tapestries.
The Austrian government recently offered a collection of tapestries, chiefly Gobelins, as security for an American loan of $15,000,000. Gobelin tapestries, the most valuable, are still being made in Paris, says the Mentor Magazine.

Sixty master weavers are employed at the Gobelin looms, where in the days of Louis XIV 300 worked on tapestries for the Sun King. The building is on the site of the medieval dye works of Philibert and Jean Gobelin.

Tapestries are now woven for French public buildings. Pieces that sold for $100 a century ago bring thousands today.

A Guilty Conscience.
"The spirit of your departed wife would like to speak to you," said the medium.

"You needn't bother about bringing us face to face, ma'am," replied the client, in some trepidation. "Just say I'm well and I hope she's the same. You might add that I miss her something dreadful."

"I'll deliver your message." "Thanks, ma'am. And if you don't mind, I'll just pay the fee and be on my way. Maggie's been dead two years and during that time I'm afraid I've done things she wouldn't approve of."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Store Up Fuel

For the Long Winter Months

If your coal bin is empty you are probably exceedingly sorry that you did not store up a supply of coal to warm your home during the coming cold weather. It is not always easy to secure fuel on short notice, and it will be especially difficult this year.

You should also store up body fuel—energy—against the time when the cold will make extra demands on the body's heating system. Three bottles of Ulea Club Pilsener a day, at meals, will do this for you. Rich in vitamins, and of proven food value Ulea Club is unequalled as a nourishing tonic beverage.

Order a case today. It takes time to store up fuel for your furnace and it takes time to store up energy in the body. Start now. If your grocer doesn't carry Ulea Club, Phone 1966 or 1967, Krumer & Siegel, 70 Chambers Street, Roudout, local distributors.

R-G-R MILLINERY SECTION OPENED

Throngs Inspected Beautiful New Construction and Artistic Display of Women's Headgear.

Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, a crowd of several hundred people waited patiently for the doors to open at the Rosa-Gorman-Rose store, and with the sweet strains of music from Diamond's orchestra inviting them, they strolled through the main aisle of the store, to the millinery department in the rear, which had its preliminary opening. The department was crowded until a late hour. On either side beautiful palms and baskets of cut flowers, interspersed about on the tables greeted the guests of the big store. A number of friends of the store had sent baskets of flowers, among the most notable being the National Cator County Bank and W. G. Hart of Walden.

The entire force of the big store were on hand to welcome the guests and the crowds seemed to feel entirely at home.

The new department was voted the most beautiful in this section, the hats seemed to win instant approval, and many were the favorable comments.

In one corner of the millinery section unique variety compacts were distributed to all who were the store's guests. Early in the evening so great was the crowd that the supply was exhausted. However, a new supply has been ordered and all who registered will secure one.

The department in charge of Miss May Reiss, a New York designer, who has had extensive experience in several of the high class millinery shops of New York City, Philadelphia and Atlantic City, and in the short time she has been in Kingston has made many warm friends.

For the past twelve months mechanics of every craft have been busily engaged in remodeling and enlarging the building of this immense store.

The crowning accomplishment of the many changes made at R-G-R, has unquestionably been the arrangement and preparation of a new millinery section, such as would be in keeping with the character and tone of the rest of the fine establishment. Beautiful mahogany fixtures, artistically fashioned by Schwarzwaelder of Chicago, from the base and back ground of the new section, cleverly concealed lights fittingly bring out the beauty of the creations.

Arranged on the new fixtures was a beautiful supply of fall millinery with a number of model hats, fresh from the fashion show in New York.

All the new style tendencies seemed to have been given full representation.

Miss Belle Greene of Auburn street is on an extended stay at Coeymans, N. Y.

Harold Sutton, who has been spending his vacation in Montgomery, has returned home.

Arthur Fitzgerald, who has been working in Springfield, Mass., is in town visiting his parents.

Miss Catherine Burhans of Lake Katrine is still confined to her bed with inflammatory rheumatism.

Miss Vera Homer of New York is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Malsenholder at their home, 365 Washington avenue.

Sergeant Cunningham, of the state troopers, returned from Syracuse Friday evening, where he has been on duty at the state fair.

Steven Madish, who was injured at the Terry Brothers' brickyard on Monday, September 6, was operated on at the Benedictine Hospital and is slowly recovering.

Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Warren of Pearl street and son, Stanton, left this morning on a motor trip to Columbus, Ohio, and other points in the west, the doctor to be gone about four weeks.

E. C. Swart, the popular telegraph operator of the West Shore R. R., and wife are spending their vacation at Washington, D. C., Mt. Vernon, Va., Monrovia, Maryland, and other places of interest.

Miss Cora Krom of this city is visiting relatives and friends in the Catskills, where she spent her childhood days, now stopping at the Maple Farm house at Albanen with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blakeslee.

Mrs. Ralph Kolarik and two children, William and Mary, who have been visiting in and out the past three months, visited her sister, Mrs. John McGuire, of Albany avenue extension, before returning to her home in Cleveland, Ohio.

The Misses Eva Lang of Hasbrouck avenue and Anna Ferguson of Newburgh are spending a few weeks with Mrs. A. R. Van Steenburgh of Detroit, Mich., a sister of Miss Lang. En route they will visit Toronto, Canada and Niagara Falls.

Charles H. Styles of Eldred, Sullivan county, is attending the reunion of the Old Twentieth Regiment in this city. Mr. Styles was a member of Company B during the Civil War, and although 87 years of age is in good health, his only ailment being a weakness in his legs caused by a fall while residing in this city about three years ago. He is still able to follow his favorite outdoor sport as a fisherman and says he brings home frequently big messes of bluefish, pickerel and perch from the Sullivan county lakes. Mr. Styles and wife make their home with a son, Walter B. Styles.

FLYING SQUIRREL IN WINTER QUARTERS AT BYER'S.

The flying squirrel at Frank Byer's cigar store on Fair street, opposite the uptown post office station, although there only a few days, is evidently satisfied with his new home and surroundings. He has selected a nesting place on one of the shelves behind the goods on display, where he sleeps and rests when not in a playful mood flying across the room from the humidifier to the top of the wall shelves. The customers at the store are warned not to be familiar with the squirrel, and so far the only incident that ruffled the temper of Mr. Byer was when S. B. Carle, of the county clerk's office, took nuts, belonging to the squirrel for food, and cracked a few and started to eat them. When taken to task for purloining the squirrel's food, Mr. Carle asked forgiveness, saying he thought that the nuts were a free lunch.

Has Real Problem.

I read about that flying squirrel having adopted Frank Byer's store as its home. That's nothing! A family of skunks has adopted my shop as a home and I am living awake nights trying to think of some odorless scheme to dispose them before they dig the foundation down.

SCARED BY UNUSUAL SOUND

Music (?) of Motor Horn Drove Lions From Oxen Which Had Seemed to Them Easy Prey.

The foot of a single motor horn has been found sufficient, in Africa, to quiet stampeded oxen and cause a trio of flesh-hunting lions to slink away into the bushes.

Two native drivers were recently conducting a wagon drawn by sixteen oxen to the railroad camp, in the wilds near Nakuru, the site of the new East African railway, when the oxen were attacked by three lions. The drivers fled to nearby trees. The oxen became panic-stricken and dashed down the rough road, dragging along the body of one ox, killed by the lions, with the swaying wagon behind them. The lions followed their prey.

This was the mad procession that greeted a lone motorist at a curve of the road. He had no rifle, and it was almost an unconscious movement that took his hand to the horn button. At the first sound the lions seemed non-plussed. The motorist then blew long and long. As the uncanny and sustained shriek rose above the clamor of the frightened animals the lions slunk away among the rocks, headed for the shelter of the bush, and the oxen swung clear of the dust-covered automobile and came to a stop at the side of the road.

WHEN DID COONS CHANGE PARTIES?

H. Westlake Coons of Ellenville, who was induced by the Anti-Saloon League staff to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for representative in Congress in this district is seeking that nomination from enrolled Republicans.

Is Mr. Coons entitled to their support?

Neighbors of Mr. Coons in Ellenville are asking that question.

Mr. Coons has stated that he voted for Woodrow Wilson for president in 1912. In that year he also took part in a Wilson parade and demonstration at Ellenville.

When did Mr. Coons cease to be a Democrat and when did he become a Republican?

The Anti-Saloon League is also seeking the Democratic nomination for Mr. Coons by asking enrolled Democrats to write his name on the primary election ballot on Tuesday.

Since he changed his politics from the Democratic to the Republican party, does the League "stuff" think he is still entitled to Democratic support?

Is he a Democrat or a Republican?

He is also the candidate of the Prohibition party, selected by that party in its customary and usual way.

Is he also a Prohibitionist as well as a Democrat and a Republican?

These are the questions that the Republican and Democratic neighbors of Mr. Coons are asking.

They think they see the answer in the efforts of William H. Anderson to show his personal power and the power of his "staff" in a Congressional district of which none of them are voters, taxpayers or residents.

The contest in the Republican and Democratic primary election on Tuesday for the nomination for representative in Congress is a contest by William H. Anderson and his "staff" on one side and the permanent residents who are enrolled voters of the Republican and Democratic parties on the other side.

VELVET JACKET WAS SYMBOL

Worn by Stevenson, According to Writer, as Protest Against the Tyranny of Fashion.

Thus gallantly he appears in my mind's eye when I pause in rereading one of his books and summon up a fantasy of the author—Robert Louis Stevenson, gentlemanly adventurer in life and letters, his brown eyes shining in a swarthy face, his lean, long-enduring body adorned with a black velvet jacket, Henry Van Dyke writes in Scribner's.

This garment is no disguise, but a symbol. It is short, so as not to impede him with entangling tails. It is unconventional, as a protest against the tyranny of fashion. But it is of velvet, mark you, to match a certain niceness of choice and preference of beauty—yes, and probably a touch of bravura in all its wearer's vagaries. "Like the silver spurs, broad sombrero and gay handkerchief of the thoroughbred cowboy—not an element of the dandified, but a tribute to romance. Strange that the most genuine of men usually have a bit of this in their composition; your only lucrative poseur being the fellow who affects never to pose and betrays himself by his attitude of scorn."

Of course Stevenson did not always wear this symbolic garment. In fact the only time I met him in the flesh his clothes had a discouraging resemblance to those of the rest of us at the Authors' club in New York. And a few months ago, when I traced his "footprints on the sands of time" at Walkie beach, near Honolulu, the picture drawn for me by those who knew him when he passed that way, was that of a tank, barefooted, bright-eyed, sun-browned man who dandered along the shore in white duck trousers and a shirt wide open at the neck. But the velvet jacket was in his wardrobe, you may be sure, ready for fitting weather and occasion.

EASY WAY TO CRACK NUTS

Scientists Recommend Use of Liquid Air as Best Means of Getting at Delectable Kernel.

Liquid air for cracking nuts is the latest application of science. Science and invention relates that experts at the national bureau of standards in Washington were appealed to for a method of breaking the shells of chinua nuts without damaging the kernels. They found that it took a weight of nearly a ton to crack the shells, and that after that effort the meat of the nut was broken in many small pieces.

Then they applied liquid air to the problem. They did not freeze solid a piece of rubber and use it as a hammer, as is done in the classic stunt of physics, but they simply immersed the nuts in liquid air for 30 seconds and cracked them easily without damage to the kernels. Now the physicists are trying to find out whether this method can be applied commercially on a large scale.

Chinua nuts are grown in South America. Their dense, strong shells were used during the war to make charcoal for gas masks, and the oil from the kernels is a valuable food similar to copra.

All of That.

When my small daughter became interested in our ages I laughingly told her that I was sixteen and daddy twenty-one. After she learned to count she added a year as the birthdays came around.

One day while she was playing at a neighbor's the woman of the house said: "Mary, do you know how old your mother is?"

Mary answered: "Nineteen."

"Oh, she is older than that, Mary. I'll bet she is twenty-six or twenty-seven."

Mary came home and told me of the conversation. After my resentment of my neighbor's inquisitiveness had subsided I was amused at the unintended compliment. I am thirty-five.—Exchange.

American Silks.

There are some interesting phases of the official statistics with reference to the manufacture of silk goods in the United States, particularly those that have to do with the early history of that industry.

It appears that the making of silk goods in our country has grown rapidly since the year 1860. At that time only 15 per cent of the silk used in the United States was home-made. In 1870 the percentage of home manufactured silk had doubled: in 1880 it had become more than 50 per cent; in 1890, 70 per cent, while at present it is estimated to be in excess of 85 per cent.

Putting Her at Ease.

We were being entertained at dinner at the home of a friend who had prepared a most delectable meal. Her dessert had failed and she had substituted prune whip for which she made apology.

I said: "There is nothing we like better—when I haven't much to eat for a meal I serve prune whip and our family think they had a fine dinner."—Chicago Tribune.

Heroic Measures.

"You and your husband go away every summer, don't you?" "Yes, but I dislike doing it." "Then why do you go?"

"I have to have you live in a stuffy hotel for a few weeks every year to make him appreciate the way I keep house."—Boston Transcript.

RUSH OF ALIENS TOWARD AMERICA

Liners Full of Immigrants Racing Across Atlantic.

HORDES ARE SEEKING FREEDOM

Must Land Before the Quotas for Their Respective Nationalities Are Filled, so Vessels Wait Outside New York Harbor Until Midnight When the Bars Are Let Down for Another Month—Quotas of Africa, Palestine, Greece, Albania and Armenia Filled.

Racing across the Atlantic toward the gates of the United States, scores of huge ocean liners have been breaking all speed records in an effort to land their cargoes of human freight before the immigration bars go up again. These races mean freedom to the fleeing hordes from war-torn and poverty stricken Europe and Asia, provided they can land before the quota for their particular nationality is filled. Otherwise, they must return again to the land from which they fled, their earnings spent, and with the chance for freedom in the land of promise barred to them.

While the big rush of immigrants began July 1, when the bars were let down after an almost complete stoppage of immigration, it continues to a lesser degree each month, and will continue until the annual quotas are filled. July 1 opened a fresh page and every steamship company broke all records to land as many immigrants as possible. Then the bars went up for a month until August 1, when the race was continued, and the first of each succeeding month will see the same mad rush to enter the gates of the promised land, until word comes from Washington that the entire quota is filled, and then there will be no admissions until July 1, 1923.

Determined by Quotas.

America's present immigrant policy allows to enter every year as immigrants only three per cent of the natives of any one country resident in the United States at the time of the census of 1910. The quota for 1921-22, the fiscal year ending June 30, was almost completely filled in the first five months, there being a provision that 20 per cent of the yearly quota may be admitted each month until the quota has been filled. Hence, since that time the bars had been up and immigration had been at a standstill. But July 1 meant another year, and another quota.

Already the quotas of Africa, Palestine, Greece, Albania, Armenia, and "other Asia" are filled. For a month no more natives of these countries will be admitted, and then will start a new rush. In fact, steamships on the other side of the Atlantic are preparing their sailing schedules so that they may slip in as soon as the bars are again lifted.

Arriving on this side, the ships lie outside the harbor until after midnight on the day when the bars are let down, and then comes the last and most exciting dash to land their passengers at quarantine, where the immigrant leaves the vessel and boards one of the huge barges which stand alongside to take them to Ellis Island.

Examined at Ellis Island.

Ellis Island, the gateway to America, is the borderland to the immigrant. Once past the island, and all is well, but to many Ellis Island is their one glimpse of the promised land. Nearly every nationality under the sun may be found at the island, either newly arrived or else being held for observation. A veritable babel of tongues is heard, for few of the immigrants are so frightened by the strangeness of their new surroundings that they cannot talk.

At Ellis Island the immigrants are classified and tagged, and undergo a most searching physical, mental, and financial examination. Dreaded typhus, trachoma, and other diseases are carefully guarded against, and any immigrant showing the slightest symptom of any of these diseases is immediately barred. A staff of trained physicians and nurses is constantly on duty to guard against any one with communicable diseases slipping in.

Uncle Sam is also very particular about the financial resources of the aliens who are constantly knocking at the gates, and unless they can prove that they will not become public charges they are refused admittance. Many, using their life savings to pay for their transportation, and not knowing of the stringent rulings, are turned back, to begin life all over again in the towns which they had hoped to leave far behind them.

BROWNS-YANKEE FINAL SERIES BEGINS TODAY

The Browns and Yankees will enter upon their final series of the year at St. Louis this afternoon with the New York entry holding a half game advantage in the torrid American League pennant race. The series is expected to decide the fight for the flag.

The Yankees have thirteen more games to play and the Browns twelve. The Hubmen have lost one less game than the Missourians so they can lose one more game than the Browns and still finish in a tie for first place.

In the National League, the Giants require eleven more victories to clinch the pennant. They are leading Pittsburgh by a margin of six full games.

The Giants have 17 more games to play as compared with 15 remaining on the schedule of the Buccaneers.

Lien Team at Fleischmanns.

The third game of the series between the Fleischmanns and the Lien baseball clubs will be played on Sunday at the Fleischmanns Athletic Field. Each team has won one game to date and as both are desirous of securing the edge, Sunday's game promises to be a hummer.

The Fleischmanns boys won the first game by a score of 4 to 3 and the Lien team annexed the second by a score of 6 to 3, both games being well played. Whitney or Chum with Griffin catching will be the Fleischmanns battery, while the Lien boys will use Ennist, Tier or Lamon with Fay catching. Play will be called promptly at 3:30 p. m., daylight saving time.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

A Giant pitcher almost lasted through a full game when Carmen Hill went along to the ninth inning with a 7 to 1 lead over the Cubs. Arriv batsmen assaulted Carner's curves in the 9th with such vigor however, that John Scott was wiggled in from the full pen.

With the tying run on third, and the winning run on second, Scott struck out Barber and saved a 7 to 6 game for McGraw.

Henline, and Hornsby staged a home run duel and the Phillies' catcher won the arguments three to two. Hornsby's two homers were his 26th and 37th of the season. Henline's three marked the first time three homers have been hit in one game by one player in the National League since 1897. The Phillies eventually won 10 to 9.

A homer by Harris was all the nourishment the Red Sox got from Vaz, Gilder and the Browns' crew in within half a game of the lead as they took the long end of a 7 to 1 argument.

The ancient cunning of Rube Marquard and the brilliant batting and fielding of Powell were too much for the Pirates who dropped a 4-to-1 decision to the Braves.

Young Ted Blankenship of the White Sox had his last ball working and the Texas Kid let the Yanks down with four hits.

George Metevier, a rookie, achieved fame in his big league debut by outpitching Walter Johnson and Cleveland beat the Senators, 6 to 5.

Leon Cadore was steady in the paches and Brooklyn won its final game of the season with Cincinnati 7 to 2.

Harris was a good pitcher for the Tigers but not much use to the Athletics and Ty Cobb's charges won 8 to 2.

OFFICERS RETURNING WITH DUNHAM REACH SYRACUSE.

Sheriff Kolts and Under Sheriff Haulenbeck, who went to Niagara Falls to bring back Harvey Dunham, who is alleged to be the Buick coupe of J. Mower Barnhardt of High Falls from Stone Ridge, where the car was parked while Jesse Barnhardt was attending a dance at that place on September 8, have arrived in Syracuse with their prisoner and will leave that city this afternoon for Kingston. The Niagara Falls police became suspicious when an attempt was made to sell the car and a phone message to the local officials resulted in the young man being held. Thursday night, Sheriff Kolts and Under Sheriff Haulenbeck accompanied Mr. Barnhardt and his son to Niagara Falls, where the car was recovered. The sheriff will return by train and the car will be driven back by the owner.
